

LORIE'S PIKE FLY TIED BY: Lorie Hagen

This is my favorite fly when it comes to pike. They just cant resist the angel hair. You can tie this fly in any color combo you like. I have even used the angel hair as a collar instead of the body to give it that little something extra. Winter is almost over and the ice should start to thaw so make sure to have a few of these in your fly box and get ready to catch some nice fish.

MATERIALS NEEDED:

HOOK | 930 or 810| Size 1/0 - 3/0
BODY | Zonker Strip / Saltwater Angel Hair
EYE| Barbell Eye
THREAD | Uni Big Fly
BOBBIN | Rite Half Hitch
VICE | Hagen's Deluxe Fly Tying Vice with Midge Jaw
SOFT BODY | Thick and Thin

« Step 1

Start your thread behind the eye of the hook and wrap about a third of the way back. Tie in your Zonker strip fur up. Bring your thread back to the eye of the hook and tie in your barbell eyes using a figure 8.

« Step 2

Once you have your eyes in place you can start to tie in your angel hair a little at a time all the way around the hook. You are going to want to build up the top of the head with the angel hair. I like to place a nice thread base over the angel hair for durability. Whip finish.

« Step 3

Now you can trim the angel hair to your desired length by cutting at a slant. You can trim it longer or shorter. Apply soft body thin and let dry. Then apply the thick. I like to add a second coat of the thick to help stand up against all those teeth.
